

NEW YORK POST

TUESDAY, MAY 30, 2006

Liz Smith

I DON'T care if they don't love me, as long as I love them!" That's what ever-in-love actor James Woods told Joan Jedell, publisher of the Hampton Sheet.

James, who could charm the tunic off Sappho, and his latest, young Ashley Madison, were in Southampton when they ran into Jedell, a woman who knows an opportunity when she sees it. She invited them to meet Rudy and Judith Giuliani at the Heart of The Hamptons event ... she took them dancing at Madame Tong's ... she lent James her camera so he could snap Ashley as she danced (alone and like the wind, we expect).

Before leaving Southampton, Woods — soon to be seen in the CBS series "Shark" playing a prosecutor — told his unexpected hostess and tour guide that he and Ashley were off to visit his mother for a month in Rhode Island.

Next >>