

SUNDAY

CELEBRATING
200
YEARS

NEW YORK POST

Sunday, October 27, 2002 - Partly cloudy, breezy, 58-62 - Weather: Page 78

Snaps

All excess

By JEFFREY SLONIM

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 23: Photographer Joan Jedell held a starry party at Le Cirque for late Post columnist Neal Travis' wife, Tolly. In the library upstairs, ex-New York Police Commissioner Bill Bratton, the next police commissioner of Los Angeles, mentioned that he was jetting off to L.A. the next morning. Wendy Goldberg — whose husband, Leonard, is currently producing the next installment of "Charlie's Angels" — will be throwing the Beverly Hills welcome bash.

<< Previous

Next >>