

NEW YORK POST

LATE CITY FINAL

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 2006

www.nypost.com

Gotcha!

CAMERA-shy Peter Bacanovic played a cunning game of cat-and-mouse with a photographer the other night. Martha Stewart's shamed ex-broker was at the Judith Lieber boutique on Madison Avenue where Denise Rich was given the Women's Leadership Award. Hampton Sheet publisher Joan Jedell spotted him, but "as soon as I tried to snap him, he ducked out and seemed to have eyes in the back, front, and side of him as I continued trying to get the shot." For 15 minutes, the pair bobbed and weaved through the swarm of guests, including Marty Richards and Ivana Trump, but "this is someone who really knows his act on ducking the press." Jedell finally got her shot by sneaking up behind the ex-con — who did five months behind bars for perjury and conspiracy.

Next >>